Student Support

Linx institute wants all students to have a great experience during their studies. Our dedicated team assists with personal growth and academic progress. Every month we have coordinated fun activities on campus and around Sydney. Be sure to check the social activity notice board when you arrive for information or ask Student Services Team about upcoming events.

Academic Support

Our trainers are also here to help you. They are more than happy to make appointments for some one-on-one training sessions if you feel you are falling behind in any of your course work. This personalised attention means that you will be able to complete your studies on time.

Work Placements

Work Placement is a vital part of all the courses we offer at Linx Institute. This regular interaction with industry professionals provides students with the opportunity to practice and reinforce the knowledge they have learnt in the classroom. Our industry partners trust the quality of training Linx provides, and our students are highly regarded in Australian Early Childhood Centres, Community welfare and Aged/disable care industries.

We have a network of business partners excited and ready to take students on for work experience, so finding work placement will be a hassle-free experience. We find work placement for all our students.

Please note that if you are applying for more than one course with us, you will only need to complete the LLN test once. The purpose of the LLN test is to ensure you have the LLN skills needed to undertake your course. It will also show how we can assist you in any areas where you may need help while studying with us.

EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION AND CARE

At Linx institute, our early childhood courses give you a broad understanding of how to care for children aged 0-6 years old in an Early Childhood Centre or a Family Daycare setting. You will cover the fundamentals of how to be a professional caring educator, provide in-home care and Early Childhood Centre based care.

Employment opportunities include running your own family daycare, becoming a room leader or supervisor, all the way up to becoming a director of an Early Childhood Centre. The possibilities are endless for Linx students. We are committed to helping students find work placements in the industry and arrange these for our international students. Having a Diploma in early childhood from Linx gives students so many options upon completion. If you have a passion for children and a drive for being part of the care industry, then you should enrol into one of our early childhood courses.

Topics covered in these courses include: children health and safety; how to foster and enhance children's early years development; how to design, implement, coordinate and evaluate experiences to help children develop; how to include and engage children with extra and special needs; how to work with families to care for children and how to manage an early childhood sector organisation. Linx students will gain a range of technical and procedural knowledge, as well as some theoretical knowledge of the concepts and practices required in this field.

The highlight of the program is undoubtedly the excellent instruction from my trainer. Their well-structured teaching methods and clear explanations have made complex concepts accessible and engaging, even for those of us without prior experience.

AGED CARE

At Linx institute, our Individual and Ageing Support courses give you a broad understanding of how to care for older people, work in an aged care facility or work in a community setting. You will cover the fundamentals of how to be a professional caring companion and provide in-home or facility based care.

Employment opportunities include assistant in nursing, personal care assistant or in-home care provider. The possibilities are endless for Linx students and we are committed to helping our graduates find placements in the industry. Having a certificate in individual support and aged care from Linx gives students so many options upon completion. If you have a passion for looking after disabled or older people and a drive for being part of the care industry, then you should enrol in one of our Individual and Ageing Support courses.

Our Individual and Ageing Support courses cover the role of workers in the community and/or residential setting who follow an individualised plan to provide person-centred support to people who may require it. These courses allow specialisation in Aged Care, Disability or Home and Community Care. Linx students will gain a range of technical and procedural knowledge, as well as some theoretical knowledge of the concepts and practices required in this field.

The classes have been very dynamic, and the classroom atmosphere is excellent. I have met many new friends from other countries in my class, and it's amazing to collaborate with them.

COMMUNITY SERVICES

At Linx Institute, our Community Services course focus on the coordination and case management of funded community programs. Our Community Services courses will give you the skills and ability to develop, organise, manage and deliver programs to and for vulnerable people. You will be able to use these skills in a variety of settings including with the homeless, victims of domestic violence, at risk youth, the elderly and people with a disability. Our courses will benefit students who wish to work as a first contact in crisis situations, referring clients to a broad range of services.

At the end of the course, students will be job ready and able to specialise in support networks due to theoretical learning and 240 hours of work placement. During your work placement experience, you will work closely with industry partners to develop programs and services to assist individual client needs. With our work placement partners, Linx will help you find an employer for you to complete your work placement assessments.

And so, if you have a drive for the management of community services as a long-term career, then you should enrol in one of our community services courses.

The skills I have learnt from this course have helped me win compensation for over 4,000 victims as well as the Cosmopolitan Magazine's "Fun, Fearless Female" award for "Game Changer of the Year" for my achievements in reversing the NSW Victims of Crime Government policy.
